The U. S. War Department a short while ago advertised for a clerk, who was required to understand only five languages, to be able to revise manuscript, read proof and do several other things, for which the munificent salary of $1 500 a year was paid. One applicant filled the specifications, but this one had the misfortune to have been born a girl, which discounted her five languages and other incidentals and knocked her out. She didn't wear a high hat nor bifurcated garments, either.

St. Louis burglars give a wide berth to the house of that female citizen who cornered one of them a few nights ago, held him for an hour, gave him a severe lecture about his night prowling habits, and then turned him over to a policeman. They might risk the pistol and the policeman, but the combination of these, with the lecture wedged in, scares 'em off.

He Was in Time.

An exciting race took place yesterday from Princess and Water streets to the wharf of the steamer Wilmington. The Wilmington was just on the point of leaving and a drayman with a load of goods marked to Southport was just a block away. He whipped his horse into a lively gallop. By the time he was half way the block the steamer was clearing the wharf. The drayman sprang upright in his dray, waved his hat frantically and shouted to the Captain in the most appealing terms, all the while dangerously near colliding with other vehicles. As he pulled up by the wharf the Wilmington was a good six feet away, steaming off at a lively rate. She happened to be going up the river, however, and touched at the wharf again before proceeding to Southport, so the drayman was in time after all.

His Newspaper Indispensable.

Some people appreciate the value of a newspaper, and when they say so voluntarily, as one of the STAR'S subscribers did yesterday, the editor feels that he has a remuneration for his services quite aside from the money consideration, which, as is usually the case, accompanies the expressions of good will and appreciation. "I count the STAR as one of my kinsmen," the subscriber in question said; "when I call the roll at night and find that all my family are with me and then have my STAR within easy reach, why, I feel pretty well satisfied."

A SAD ACCIDENT.

Mr. J. W. Wilder, an A. C. L. Conductor, Receives Fatal Injuries by Being Crushed Between Two Cars at Warsaw Yesterday Afternoon—Death Resulted at 9 O'clock Last Night.

Mr. J. W. Wilder, of this city, a popular young conductor in the employ of the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad Company, was badly crushed between two cars yesterday afternoon at Warsaw, which later resulted in his death.

Mr. Wilder, at the time of the accident, was in charge of an extra freight train coming from South Rocky Mount to this city. At Warsaw the train stopped to allow several cars to be shifted, and Conductor Wilder got off. He was standing between two box cars, connecting the air pipes, when the cars came suddenly together, crushing him between the bumpers.

The news of the sad accident was immediately telegraphed the injured man's brother, Mr. H. F. Wilder, a train dispatcher in the A. C. L. office in this city, and his father at St. Stephen's, S. C.

Mr H. F. Wilder wired to Warsaw, and inquired if his brother could be brought to Wilmington, but received in reply a telegram stating that he was too badly hurt to be removed. Mr. Wilder left for Warsaw last night, but just before he arrived in that city his brother passed quietly away. He died at 9 o'clock.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE SENATE AND HOUSE.

Bills Introduced to Have the State Represented at the Tennessee Exposition—Making an Appropriation for a Statue to Geo. Peabody—To Establish a Dispensary in Wayne—To Annul the Lease of the North Carolina Railroad.

[Special Star Telegram.]

HOUSE.

RALEIGH N. C., Jan. 30.—Bills were introduced in the House to appropriate $1 000 towards the erection of a statue to Geo. Peabody in Statuary Hall, Washington; to amend the law regarding tramps and vagabonds, removing jurisdiction from Superior Court to magistrates.

The Election Committee submitted majority and minority reports in the case of Broughton (Dem) against Young (col. Rep.) from Wake. The majority report favors Young.

The bill to have the State represented at the Tennessee Exposition provides that for the purpose of making an exhibit a board of managers is created, composed of the Governor, Board of Agriculture and nine other citizens, selected by the Governor. The Board of Agriculture is authorized to make an exhibit and to use for this purpose any funds it may have on hand or to its credit, and a further sum of $10 000 be appropriated out of any funds in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

A resolution was adopted giving Helen Lewis, woman's suffragist, the use of the hall.

By Brower, to restore Surry county to the Fifth Congressional district, and to restore Durham and Orange to the Fourth district; to allow the sheriff of Robeson to collect arrears of taxes.

The bill to prevent affrays was tabled, and the bill to punish slander, making it a misdemeanor, was unfavorably reported. It, however, passed all readings.

Bills were passed, to require Craven County Commissioners to refund taxes illegally collected under the act of 1895; incorporating the Bank of Kinston.

Bill to prevent renting, leasing or providing any place of habitation for any married woman not living with her husband, was tabled. The bill providing that no bill shall be introduced three days preceding adjournment was tabled.

Owing to the unfavorable weather there was but a small supply of country produce on the market yesterday. Vegetables were scarce and of an inferior quality, many of them apparently damaged by cold. RALEIGH NEWS BUDGET

THE BILL TO CHANGE WILMINGTON'S CHARTER TO BE FAVORABLY REPORTED.

Effort to Be Made to Capture Raleigh—No Hope of Bill to Annul Lease of N. C. Railway Becoming a Law—Judge Norwood's Impeachment—Populists to be Offered Offices to Make Them Desert Butler.

[Special Star Correspondence]

RALEIGH N. C., Jan. 30.

Representative Fagan, tells me that Speaker Hileman and Representatives Person and Whitener have not attended a meeting of the majority caucus since the resolution expelling the bolters and denouncing them as traitors was drawn. Mr. Fagan, who is a bolter, rooms next to these gentlemen, and he says they are not in sympathy with the policy pursued by Butler and the majority Populists. Hileman does not like Butler. Republicans say that Hileman, Whitener and Person, will act with the bolters and that they have left the majority caucus for all time.

The Committee on Cities and Towns, of which Sutton, of New Hanover, is chairman, has made a favorable report of the bill to change the charter of Wilmington. The report had not been made to the House this morning. Howe, the colored Representative from New Hanover, says he is sure the bill will pass.

The Republicans are going to make an effort to capture the city of Raleigh.

A gentleman, who is well informed as to the views of the members of the General Assembly, tells us that there is no hope of the bill to annul the lease of the North Carolina Railway ever becoming a law. The Populists will support the measure, but the Republicans and Democrats, generally speaking, will vote against it. Sutton, of New Hanover, and Chas. A. Cook, are among the Republicans who will support it. This revocation of the lease business is Governor Russell's hobby, and strange to say his party is against him. The Governor is said to be of the opinion that his administration will be a success if it does nothing but break up the lease.

The House will adopt the resolution relative to the impeachment of Judge Norwood. Lusk, Cook and Sutton will probably be the three attorneys who will prosecute Norwood before the bar of the Senate. In the meantime Norwood's friends are urging him to resign.

[Special Star Telegram.]

The policy of the minority Populists, backed by Republicans, will be to seduce a majority of Populists by offering them offices. They think they can beat Butler's game by this course.

C. C. Clark, Jr., of Newbern, is prominently spoken of for Adjutant General. He will have strong endorsements.

FROM FAYETTEVILLE.

The Oscar P. Sisson Comedy Company—The Opera House Refitted With New Chairs Scenery.

[Star Correspondence.]

FAYETTEVILLE, Jan. 30.—The good people of Wilmington will next week have the pleasure of witnessing the performances of one of the best comedy troupes on the road. We refer to the Oscar P. Sisson Comedy Company, which gave its first performance at Fayetteville last night in the presentation of "The Colonel." The Opera House, which, under the excellent management of three popular young men, Messrs. Matthews, Dodson and Williams, was well filled with a critical audience and the universal verdict was that the company is one of the best on the road. The little India rubber girl, supported by her most excellent company, was the chief attraction. She is one of the cleverest and most charming little actresses that has ever visited this city, while Mr. Sisson, who was here last year with the Mabel Paige company, has if possible become more proficient in his role.

The Fayetteville Opera House has recently been refitted with beautiful stage scenery, and is now well-suited to all theatrical purposes. The people of Fayetteville are grateful to the new managers for their enterprise in bringing to us the good troupes which have visited Fayetteville this season. We commend heartily to Wilmington people the Sisson Company. H. EYE.

THE BRAVE CUBANS.

They Win an Important Battle in Sight of Havana—Spanish Troops Join the Cubans.

[New York Sun.]

HAVANA, Jan. 28.—Around Havana the insurgents are fighting bravely, in spite of all the reports of pacification. Near Managua a serious engagement took place yesterday between the forces of the Spanish Major Dario Diez and those of the Cuban leader Delgado. The Spanish defeat was complete. Major Diez returned to the Havana suburb of Jesus del Monte with only half of the guns that had been in the hands of his troops and without any ammunition. Delgado captured in the fight a great quantity of guns and ammunition. Dario Diez himself was wounded and also Capt. Jose Talaveron, Lieut. Jose Talaveron, Jr., and David Menendez, chief of a guerilla band. Eighty nine privates were killed and their bodies left on the field. The wounded numbered fifty four.

In the official report a victory is not claimed, but the Spanish troops are praised as having stood bravely against superior forces, and it is alleged that the Cuban leader Delgado was wounded.

To judge of the importance of this engagement at the very time when Weyler asserts that he has freed the province of rebels, it is enough to say that Managua is within sight of the capital, and that from the houses on the outskirts of La Vibora the smoke of the fight could be seen.

The insurgents yesterday attacked Marianao, a suburb of Havana, spreading general alarm in that quarter and throughout the entire city.

The example of Major Sainz and Gonzalez Moreno of Puerto Principe, who surrendered to the insurgents, as was cabled yesterday to the Sun, has been followed at the very doors of Havana. Half of the cavalry force of the Count of Sagunto has deserted to the Cubans, and the rest has fled helter-skelter into Havana.

The Cuban leader Eduardo Garcia, reported killed by the Spanish, is very much alive and was seen yesterday at Manjuari, on the borders of the provinces of Havana and Matanzas.

NEVADA THE PLACE.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons Will Meet Either in Carson City, Reno or Virginia City—The Governor Has Signed the Bill Permitting Boxing Contests With Four Ounce Gloves.

[By Telegraph to the Herald.]

DALLAS, TEX., Jan. 28, 1897.—"Dan" A. Stuart to-night announced the place for the prize fight between James J. Corbett and Robert Fitzsimmons to be Nevada, either at Carson City, Reno or Virginia City, whichever point makes the best offer. The announcement was made this evening on receipt of a dispatch from W. K. Wheelock, Stuart's manager, stating that the Governor of Nevada had signed the bill licensing prize fighting in that State.

Dan Stuart said to-night: "Nothing less than the death of one of the principals will stop the fight. Special rates will be given on all the roads between New York and San Francisco leading to the point of the contest, which, in all probability, will be the greatest the world has ever seen."

Upward of a thousand persons will go from Texas to witness the fight, which will take place on March 17th. It is generally believed that Reno will be the point, and steps will be taken at once to build an amphitheatre that will hold 30,000 spectators. Texas lumbermen will compete with California in furnishing the raw material.

In the betting here the gamblers favor Fitzsimmons and the general public Corbett.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons will be notified of the selection of Nevada as the battle-ground to-morrow, and they can proceed there at once to begin training and have absolute protection, Stuart says, as the boxing bill, which has passed both Houses of the Legislature and been signed by the Governor, guarantees that there shall be no interference by the State or local authorities. Stuart said that he gave up all hope of holding the contest in Mexico some time ago, and that he has been hard at work in having a Nevada bill passed.

BUILDING ASSOCIATIONS.

[Charlotte Observer.]

There are times when it is not kind to say "I told you so," but there are times when it ought to be said in order to keep people out of the same class of troubles that their neighbors have gotten into. In the failure of the Southern Building and Loan Association of Knoxville, Tenn., with assets of $3 500,000 and liabilities more, a number of North Carolina people were caught under the dead fall; and the fact reminds us that we are constantly reminding our readers not to invest their money in building and loan associations outside of the State. The local association of this character is the best institution in the world and the foreign association one of the best things in the world to fight shy of.

AFTER WEYLER.

Four American Sharpshooters Sent to the Front to Pick Off the Captain General.

KEY WEST, FLA., Jan. 28.—General Weyler is now running a strong risk of losing his life.

From a Cuban, who arrived on last night's steamer from Havana, it is learned that four Texans left General Rivera's command ten days ago and passed the trocha, bound for the front in Matanzas province, they being especially detailed to attempt the killing of Captain General Weyler. They belong to the Texas sharpshooters' company, and are armed with telescopic rifles. All are experts.

When first detailed they protested, saying that they had come for open fighting, but when shown the details of Weyler's brutal murders and outrages in that section, and knowing of the horrors in Pinar del Rio province, they vowed to avenge the wrongs of the scores of innocent pacificos slain and of the many women maltreated.

News received last night that Weyler had been shot at convinced the Cubans here that the Texans were on the trail of the Captain General.

The names of the four men are known to Havana Cubans but are suppressed for obvious reasons. A full report has been sent to the Cuban Junta.

SUNDAY MORNING, JAN. 31, 1897

CHEAP MONEY Vs. DEAR MONEY.

We clip the following from the Washington Post, because the paragraph on which the Post comments is suggestive and because the comments are appropriate and pertinent:

"We think the Boston Transcript is very much in error when it contends that the cotton manufacturing industry is growing more in New England than in any other part of the country. The Transcript admits that a considerable amount of Massachusetts capital has invested in Southern cotton mills, but asserts that the Bay State more than holds her own. Our Boston contemporary puts a brave face on a situation that is not generally regarded as cheerful for the Eastern cotton manufacturers, and discourses in this highly intellectual strain:

"'If the South has near cotton and cheap labor, it has few banks and dear money. Massachusetts has not the cheapest, but the best labor, and plenty of money, with both the railroads and the banks at the doors of the mills In peace as in war, victory inclines to the people who join to natural aptitude the better organization. The North has almost a genius for that capacity for organization the South conspicuously lacks.'

"'Near cotton and cheap labor' are great advantages, and the farmer will be permanent—a fact of vast importance. In the course of time there may be an equalization of wages, but that will not come for some years, and, pending its arrival, the South will have an advantage that will be equivalent to a handsome annual dividend on the shares of its cotton corporations. It is certainly not true that any other section has, in the past twelve years, experienced such a growth in this industry as has been witnessed in the South. As to 'the best labor,' there is room for a doubt, considering the quality of labor that Massachusetts has imported to take the place of natives in her mills. In railroads and banks, Massachusetts is better off than the South, but this is not a permanent condition. Massachusetts is finished as to railroads, but having built a mile for three years, the South is gaining rapidly in facilities for interior transportation. The banks will come in time, because the development of business will create them. The Massachusetts men who put their money into Southern mills will unite with the other business men of that section in providing banking facilities. As to the Transcript's boast of "natural aptitude" and "better organization," the South can afford to smile at it and point, for answer, to the incomparable industrial development of the South since the reconstruction era.

"We do not know that anybody desires the decline of any of the Bay State's industries, and we do not think its cotton industry is destined to an early demise; but the mill that is close to the field is the mill that, in the long run, will wear out a competing mill a thousand miles away. The laws of nature cannot be repealed, even by a "genius for organization."

No one expects to see the cotton manufacturing industry pass entirely from New England, for New England's life depends too much upon it and there are two many millions invested in buildings and machinery for that. To save their millions they will be compelled to pursue the industry and to pursue it diligently even if the competition be greater and the profits much less than they now are, but the day is coming and that day is not so far distant when there will be no more new factories built in that section. The capital that seeks investment in cotton manufacturing will come to the cotton fields where it can command the most permanent advantages, advantages that will not depend upon contingencies nor upon legislation, as that industry now does to a great extent in the New England States, all of which is practically admitted in the paragraph upon which the Post comments. It is practically an admission, too, that New England is placing her dependence largely on the abundance of money which the industry can command, or, in other words, "cheap" money, with which she hopes to hold her own against the South, which has greater natural advantages, but has to contend against a scarcity of money, which means "dear" money, so that, simmered down, it is a contest between "cheap" money and "dear" money.

Is it surprising that, under these circumstances, the New England States go as solidly as they do for the monetary system which centers money in the East, makes it abundant and cheap, which enables them to successfully carry on great industries that they would otherwise be unable to carry on? "Cheap" money is their salvation.

And should it be surprising that the South is anxious for a change in that monetary system which would give her the benefit of a better distribution of the currency, make it more abundant and give the industries of this section a chance to command "cheap" money as the industries of New England now do?

If the South had at her command the monetary resources that New England has, Southern men would within ten years have a monopoly of the cotton manufacturing industry of this continent, and before many years more she would be the center of the iron manufacturing industry, both of which from her natural advantages and abundant resources in the way of cheap raw material she is destined to control in time, how soon is simply a question of the ability to command money in sufficient amount.

Under the present monetary system the South must depend on the money she earns, or the money that is brought in for investment. With all her resources, with all her visible and hidden wealth, she cannot have the banks necessary to supply the currency needed, for the bonds which furnish the basis for note circulation are controlled by the moneyed men of the North, who control the banks and find more profit in managing the money as they do, having a practical monopoly of it, than they would in the establishment of small banks in the South and West, and hence we now see and very frequently see a gorge of money in the Eastern money centers while there is a money famine in the South and West. Where the industries are already established and backed by ample capital there is money to spare, it is lying idle in the vaults, while in the sections where the new industries need it it can't be had without paying an enormous interest compared with that paid in the East, and then only on gilt-edge security.

Our own banks do as well as they can, but their resources are limited, and they cannot command money in quantities sufficient to meet the demands of development with the ordinary demands of business. They cannot give us "cheap" money, because the money is monopolized by men of other sections whose interest it is to make it dear to us If we had our own State banks, under our own State laws, using as a basis of circulating notes specie and our own securities, or if we had the free and unlimited coinage of silver this sectional money monopoly would be broken and we would soon be in a position to command the money that our industries and the development of our resources might need. We need exactly what the Eastern industries have, and what they are counting most confidently upon—abundant money, which means "cheap" money.

MINOR MENTION.

If there be any truth in the report of the plan of home rule that the Spanish Government has agreed upon for Cuba, according to the Cuban correspondent of the New York Herald, it may be the beginning of the end, although it is a great back down for Spain, and more than the Cubans would have demanded twelve months ago. Lacking but little of absolute independence, if it be accompanied by safe guarantees that it will be carried out in good faith, and the United States be empowered by understanding with Spain and pledged to see it faithfully carried out, the main thing for which the Cubans have been fighting will have been secured, and their condition in the future may be better than if they were actually independent, for with their mixed population, the general ignorance that prevails and their little experience in governing themselves, independence might not be an unmixed blessing. The leaders of the Cuban armies and some others may be unwilling to accept anything short of absolute independence, but the mass of the people who have been following and supporting them are getting very tired of the war, which is a fearful strain on them. For them it has been a heroic struggle, in which they have shown the highest type of patriotism with the self sacrificing devotion of the martyr, but with non-interference by this Government it will simply be a question of endurance in which the power that can hold out the longest will wear the other out, and in the meantime the devastating havoc will go on and the torch, gun and machete will add to the horrors and atrocities that have shocked humanity and evoked universal sympathy for the gallant strugglers for freedom, who have fought against such fearful odds with a resolution and valor that has made them immortal.

* * *

The resolution empowering the President to call an international monetary congress, which passed the Senate Friday with practically no opposition, will pass the House with probably as little opposition. Having started it the Republicans cannot drop it, and as the silver men are not disposed to throw any obstacles in the way of the restoration of bimetallism, they will give the gentlemen who are moving for this conference full sway and let them show what they can do. There is as little doubt that they are playing this thing for politics as there is that Wm. McKinley will be inaugurated President, if he lives until the fourth day of March. It will be noted that there is nothing mandatory in the resolution, that everything is left discretionary with the President as to the time, place or the conference be called at all. Senator Cannon, of Utah, tested their sincerety by the amendment which he proposed making it mandatory on the President to call the conference to meet in Washington in or before the month of October next, which would give Mr. McKinley seven months to prepare for it and feel the pulse of the nations whose co operation may be desired. But that amendment didn't go; it was rejected and as the resolution stands, Mr. McKinley has four years to play with it. Probably about the middle of his term he will have made progress enough to announce that he will call such a conference, and then proceed to get things in such a shape that it can be called in time to be used as campaign stuff and proof that they were honest, and in earnest when they made that pledge at St. Louis.

* * *

When statesman Lee Person, of Edgecombe county, decided that the insurance business of this State needed regulation and therefore proceeded to elaborate a bill in the way of a regulator he, doubtless, had an eye on multiplying the offices so that there would be some more soft snaps for the patriots on his side of the fence. The same idea probably struck the solon who has introduced a bill for the creation of the office of Public Printer, with a salary of $1,500. If the printing be given out to the lowest responsible bidder, as it should be, this State has about as much use for a Public Printer as it has for an elephant trainer, for about all he would have to do would be to take an occasional glance at the work the contractors turned out, and help them, if he or they were built that way, to beat the State. The uselessness of this office will not, however, be a bar to its creation, if there be any waiting and useful patriot hanging around that they think might be thus provided for.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Greenville Reflector: William Lee, who is accused of murdering William Stevens at Knight Station, a few days ago, was given a preliminary trial yesterday before Capt. Watson, J. P., at Tarboro, and committed to jail without bail.

— Goldsboro Argus: The Argus is deeply pained to announce the death of Mr. Jacob Cohn, 30 years of age, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cohn, which occurred Friday morning at the home of his parents on John street, of consumption, consequent upon an attack of the grip some two years ago.

— Scotland Neck Commonwealth: Last Friday evening about 4 o'clock a colored man named Anderson Brodie was arrested and placed in the lockup at Enfield, for safe-keeping. He set fire to the lockup about 11 o'clock that night, thinking he would escape, but perished in the flames. He was wanted for shooting and killing another negro some time ago, with whom he had a difficulty over a pair of boots.

— Raleigh News and Observer: D. Hilliard, of Weldon, N. C., was found dead in his room at the Mansion House in Norfolk Thursday afternoon. He was a man of about 45 years of age and came to that city last Sunday, registering at the Mansion House. He engaged a room for a week, but had been lost sight of since Tuesday. When found he was lying comfortably on his bed, but his face and body were badly discolored. It is not known whether his death was due to suicide or natural causes.

— Columbus News: Mr. John Bright killed the only big hog we have heard of this winter in this section. It weighed 560 pounds, and that's "heap hog" for a razor back. —— Mr. Chauncey and another gentleman, of Waccamaw township, killed a rattlesnake a few days ago which measured eleven inches in circumference, three inches across the head and about six feet (we don't remember exact length) in length. The companion to this rattler they found already dead, and he was about as large as the one they killed.

— Wilson Times: Mr. T. J. Herring, of this place, departed this life last Tuesday about 9 o'clock, in the 56th year of his age. He was afflicted with hay fever and la grippe, which caused his demise, but for some time he has been in feeble health. —— In Stantonsburg township Monday night about 9 o'clock, W. T. Harrison shot and seriously wounded J. W. Stancil just over the heart. It seems that some boys were fighting, and Mr. Stancil, it is supposed, went to part them, when Mr. Harrison's son struck him Then Mr. Stancil struck Harrison's boy. Then Harrison, Sr. pulled his pistol and putting it to Stancil's breast fired. It was not at first thought the wound was serious, but since Mr. Stancil has grown much worse.

— Greenville Weekly: John Keel, who killed David Crandall last Christmas, and for whose arrest there is a reward of $100 offered by the Governor, is well prepared to resist arrest When last seen, which was when he got dinner at a house in Carolina township a week or so ago, he was armed with a double-barrelled breech loading shot gun, a Winchester repeating (16 shot) rifle, two large pistols, a bowie knife and plenty of ammunition. Keel is a stout, broad shouldered, square built man, about five feet ten inches high, weighing 175 or 180 pounds, dark hair, gray eyes, full face, complexion a little dark, has good teeth, wears about No. 9 shoe, has not a bad face and can do several sleight of hand tricks He has served five years in the penitentiary from Martin county for robbing a negro of a banjo and purse containing ten cents.

CHILD AND MOTHER.

EUGENE FIELD.

O, Mother-My Love, if you'll give me your hand
And go where I ask you to wander,
I will lead you away to a beautiful land—
That dreamland that's waiting out yonder.

We'll walk in a sweet posie garden out there
Where moonlight and starlight are streaming,
And the flowers and the birds are filling the air
With the fragrance and music of dreaming.

There'll be no little, tired out boy to undress,
No questions or cares to perplex you;
There'll be no little bruises or bumps to caress,
Nor patching of stockings to vex you.
For I'll rock you away on the silver-dew stream
And sing you asleep when you're weary,
And no one shall know of our beautiful dream
But you and your own little dearie.

And when I am tired I'll nestle my head
In the bosom that's soothed me so often,
And the wide-awake stars shall sing in my stead
A song which my dreaming shall soften.

So, Mother-My-Love, let me take your dear hand
And away through the starlight we'll wander—
Away through the mist of the beautiful land—
The dreamland that's waiting out yonder!

— There is no virtue in doing right simply because we have to.

— God made man too great to find his life in the present moment.

— If the devil loves his own he must be delighted with the man who says mean things in an anonymous letter.

—Method is good in everything, either an express or covert method. Sometimes it is the best of art to cover it. In speaking there is a special use of method, though, as one said very well (speaking of those who are more curious about method than serious about matter) "Method never converted any man."—Joseph Caryl

— The life of the Crucified was lived by one who delighted to do God's will. He did not exclude pleasure or morbidly delight in pain; it was just that he did not think about pleasing himself at all. He took the bitter and sweet as they were sent, and delighted in them because he knew the sender who sought only the good of all men. This is the life of the Crucified. You think happiness is to please yourself; it is not that at all, it is to delight in doing his will.—Edna Lyall.

— Two artists went out to paint each a picture of peace. One painted a silvery lake embossed deep among the hills where no storm could ever touch it—calm, sweet, quiet in its shelter. The other painted a wild sea, swept by tempests, strewn with wrecks, but rising out of the sea, a great rock, and in the rock, high up a cleft with herbage and flowers, amid which, on her nest, a dove was sitting. The latter is a true picture of Christian peace.—J R Miller.

—— Senator Turple has made another record as a master of invective in his treatment of the Cuban question. There is a great deal of feeling in this country against Weyler and the Spanish methods of warfare in Cuba, but there are few people who feel that they can do the subject justice in words. Senator Turpie can and he has by doing so earned the grateful regard of a large number of people who can now say, "Them's my sentiments," and let the matter go at that.—Indianapolis Sentinel, Dem.

—— There was a remarkabe display of misinformation made in the discussions of the associated manufacturers yesterday when it was asserted, without contradiction, that there was no "protection" for American shipping. The fact is that Protection is absolute. Foreign-built vessels cannot fly the American flag; and they cannot engage in our coast wise trade. This is protection carried to the ideal Protectionist paradise—prohibition. Our flag has, in fact, been protected off the high seas.

An American who wishes to engage in the shipping trade must do business under the flag of some other country, or do business at a loss. Philadelphia Record.

A FRUIT COSMETIC.

HOW LEMON JUICE MAY BE USED WITH BENEFICIAL RESULTS.

Invaluable In the Care of the Complexion and Unequaled as a Hair Wash and Tonic—Good For the Teeth and Indispensable In Manicuring—A Great Aid to Health.

The very latest cosmetic is the lemon. In countries where they grow as freely as apples do in the temperate zone this fact is appreciated and their virtues availed of, but their admirable qualities are worthy of wider knowledge. Lemons are not so costly, even in the coldest countries, that women may not easily afford to use this tropical aid to the toilet.

In the care of the complexion it is invaluable, particularly in summer, when a few drops squeezed into the water in which the face is washed removes all greasiness and leaves the skin fresh and velvety. A little lemon juice rubbed on the cheeks before going to bed and allowed to dry there will remove freckles and sunburn and whiten the skin, besides giving it a charming smoothness and softness to the touch. This should be done about three times a week, both winter and summer, and is of the greatest aid to such complexions as are afflicted with enlarged and blackened pores. These enlarged pores are due to deficient circulation of the blood and are to be greatly aided by vigorous rubbing with a coarse towel every time the face is washed.

Those who lead a sedentary life find the circulation feeblest about the nose, lips and temples, and these parts should be energetically rubbed and kneaded several times a day. When the pores become distended, a fine, invisible dust in the air enters and clogs and blackens them. Mere ordinary face washing, even when warm water and soap are used, is not sufficient to remove the dirt in the pores, but the vigorous acid of the lemon will cleanse and carry off all such unsightly blemishes.

In the West Indies a lemon bath is almost a daily luxury. Three or four limes or lemons are sliced into the water, which is drawn half an hour before using, so that the fruit juice may have a chance to permeate, and the deliciousness of such tubbing must be felt to be appreciated. The sense of cleanliness and freshness it gives and the suppleness and smoothness it imparts to the skin are an experience not soon forgotten. The lemon is more than a substitute for the bran bathbags which were invented by the French and which exquisites think so necessary for the toilet.

Half a teaspoonful of the juice of the lemon squeezed into a glass of water and used for brushing the teeth gives the mouth the same feeling of cleanliness that the lemon bath gives to the skin. It is particularly grateful when sickness renders the mucous and salivatory excretions of the mouth unpleasant. Not more than half a teaspoonful should be used, as a powerful acid is bad for the enamel, but on occasion the proportions may be increased, as the lemon is an active deodorizer and will remove the smell of onions or tobacco from the mouth.

As a hair wash and tonic it has no rival. For the former purpose a large, juicy lemon should be cut in half, the head dipped into a bowl of water, from which the chill only must be removed, and the water made of the same temperature as the air, and the lemon rubbed and squeezed vigorously among the roots and along the length of the hair. Soak and rub the head well in this bath and then rinse thoroughly in fresh water of the same warmth. If well dried at once with energetic toweling, there will never be the smallest danger of cold. No soap is needed. The acid of the lemon absolutely removes all grease and dust, and the hair, after such a bath, is soft, glossy and clean. This lemon bath once a week will have the most beneficial effect upon the hair, stimulating its growth, delaying the coming of grayness and making it beautifully pliable and polished.

For manicuring the lemon is absolutely indispensable. A teaspoonful of the juice in a cupful of tepid water whitens and supples the nails and removes all grease and dirt, making them much more easy to polish. This should be used every morning, and by dabbling the fingers a few moments it is possible to make the nails perfectly clean and transparent without the use of any metal cleaner by simply rubbing them with a towel. It is also most beneficial in removing the skin around the nail edges, which should never by any chance be cut with scissors. Rub the towel firmly all about the nail, pushing back the skin. Do this regular every day, and after a few weeks the skin growth will disappear and never return as long as the treatment is continued. The comparison of nails kept in this way with those subjected to the barbarous method of skin clipping will at once show the advantage of the former manner of treatment.

Finally the lemon upon the toilet table is a great aid to health. The juice of a lemon squeezed into a large breakfast cup of water, drank without sugar and immediately upon rising and as hot as can be borne, is the most admirable tonic and alterative. No one should form the habit of taking even the mildest alterative, but if the head feels heavy and dull or one is conscious of languor and discomfort upon rising this lemon draft is one of the best and simplest methods of clearing out the system and restoring its tone.—Detroit Free Press.

The Dog That Got the Ducks.

A good story is told of hunters from Washington who went to the coast of North Carolina to shoot ducks.

There were six men in the party, and they had three dogs with them. They hunted in couples, each two having a dog. Shooting was good, and from each of the six couples the sound of guns being fired notified their friends of their success, for they were only a short distance apart.

Each couple was somewhat indignant, because whenever a duck fell their own dog failed to get it, one dog seeming to secure almost every one of the wild fowl.

At luncheon time they all came together.

"Well, what luck?" was the general greeting.

"Elegant, but your dog got our ducks," was the universal response.

Then they looked at each other, while from out the little bay glided a skiff loaded with ducks, in the forward end of which sat the dog which had gathered them in.—Washington Star.

Wanted Peace and Quiet.

"You didn't take that middle flat which you liked so well?"

"No."

"Rent too high?"

"Oh, no! I found that the woman up stairs kept some Angora cats and that the man in the lower flat was raising pug dogs."—Chicago Record.

Sad Reflections.

An elderly New York gentlewoman, having occasion to expostulate with her fishman, remarked to him:

"Those last clams that you brought me were dead."

"Madam," was the answer, "we all must die!"

This was disconcerting, but not more so than the reply made to the same lady by another tradesman, to whom she happened to say, "I have lived in this house for 40 years."

He responded, "That is nothing to eternity!"—New York Journal.

Precaution.

Tourist (looking back upon a difficult bit of mountain path he had just traversed)—Ugh, that's as ugly a bit of dangerous climbing as I've ever been over! There must have been a lot of accidents there. Why don't they put up a notice board to the effect that it's dangerous?

Guide—There was an accident there once, sir, and they put a notice at the entrance to the pass, but as nobody else came and fell down the chasm they did away with the board.—London Fun.

A Chinese doctor is employed by families by the year, at a rate, according to their means and his reputation, of 1 cent to 5 cents a day as long as every member of the family is well. When one falls ill, the doctor's pay stops until health is fully restored.

That

Extreme tired feeling afflicts nearly everybody at this season. The hustlers cease to push, the tireless grow weary, the energetic become enervated. You know just what we mean. Some men and women endeavor temporarily to overcome that

Tired

Feeling by great force of will. But this is unsafe, as it pulls powerfully upon the nervous system, which will not long stand such strain. Too many people "work on their nerves," and the result is seen in unfortunate wrecks marked "nervous prostration," in every direction. That tired

Feel-

ing is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is, therefore, apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember that — For want of looking up many a paper is lost. If you do not believe, why do you pray? and if you believe, what do you expect? By praying you seem to depend on God; by not expecting, you again renounce your confidence. What is this but to take his name in vain? O Christian, stand to your prayer in a holy expectation of what you have begged upon the credit of the promise. Mordecai, no doubt, had put up many prayers for Esther, and therefore he waits at the king's gate, looking what answer God would in his providence give thereby. Do thou likewise.—Wm Gurnall.

MY QUEEN.

Dear wife and perfect friend, my household queen,
With watchful care making my home so dear
That all my work mere pastime doth appear;
If but thy fair face in my room be seen,
And the soft voice's music intervene,
Like melody itself the brain to clear
Of o'erspun tissue of thought's atmosphere
By gracious fancies where God's hand hath been—
Man cannot rise, or so I think, to heights
Where spirits pure as thine unconscious move
Till that white Purity's exceeding lights
The grosser spirit's earthly strain reprove
And the best angel of Jehovah's fights
Arm us anew with his whole armor—Love.

UNAWARES.

When I was introduced to her, I was standing in the balcony of the swimming tank at Santa Cruz, watching the greenery yellery water beneath and the black human frogs awkwardly gambolling therein. I dislike being introduced to people at or in swimming tanks, but as Mrs. Richbody introduced her I had to be civil. (Mrs. Richbody has a very good cook—much better than the chef at the hotel where I am staying.)

So I found her a chair and we sat down.

Out of the corner of my eye I saw her hitch her chair a little closer to mine as she adjusted her skirts. Like all the girls this season, she wears those abominable godets behind, that stick out like the cowcatcher of a locomotive, and they need careful management.

Before she had spoken six words I murmured to myself: "Ah, that explains it. You are a German."

"Explains what?" she asked sharply.

"You are a German," I repeated. "Pray go on. I am interested in your remarks."

"Most foreigners take me for French," she said.

I merely smiled and dropped the ashes of my cigar into the upturned eye of my tailor in the tank below, who had had the impertinence to forward me his little account from the city.

"Most foreigners," she repeated.

"Excuse me," said I, "but where are we?"

"In the swimming tank."

"No; at the swimming tank, but in the United States of America."

Just then the band played "Der Wacht am Rhein."

"It's true, all the same," I said as the last strain died away. "We're in America, though I sometimes find it hard to realize it."

Caroline frowned and made a delicious little pucker in her white forehead. (I call her Caroline now. All this was five days ago.)

"The best blood you have is German," she said.

"I think not," I replied. "My grandmother was a Frenchwoman."

"So was mine," she said softly.

The silence was broken only by the barking of a human seal in the tank below—a poor imitation and much more vulgar than the original.

At length Caroline said, "I'm sorry you dislike the Germans."

"I don't. As individuals I have many friends among them, but as a nation"—I blew a light whiff that vanished into thin air.

"You're not very entertaining or very complimentary. Indeed, you're rather rude, and I think I'll go," she said.

She rose and gave her pipe organ plaits a preliminary shake.

"Don't go," I said mildly. "I said nothing"—

"I agree with you," she answered cheerfully, and sat down again with a satisfied smile.

Now, I confess, that just for a moment I felt foolish. Never a man, never a child and seldom a woman has made me feel foolish. And this woman had made me feel foolish—for a moment. I was annoyed, and, I fear, showed it, for I gave a little start (I was so surprised at her audacity, you know), and dropped my lighted cigar into the swimming tank. It fell on the bald head of my tailor (Stultzwurzel), and made him swear prodigiously. That was some satisfaction.

"I think we'd better go and take a turn on the beach," said I, rising. "The air seems warm and stuffy here."

"Not at all," she replied, settling back snugly and tapping the toe of a very small tan slipper with the parasol.

"It seems very comfortable here to me. But perhaps you suffer from headache?"

"No," said I; "that's not the trouble. My nose is out of joint."

"Poor Slawkenbergius," she murmured.

Now, this was more extraordinary than anything she had said before. That a young girl brought up among the Germans—that strange people who drink lager beer, love sauerkraut and write volumes on such thrilling topics as Assonantal Rimes for Hors in the old German epic—that a girl so educated should show acquaintance with a belle lettres writer so essentially non-German as Sterne—this was even more remarkable than her impertinent remark about my having said "nothing."

I was proceeding to light a fresh cigar when she interrupted coolly:

"I don't like smoking, Mr. Legend."

I looked at her in amazement.

"But you are a German," I said. "Surely all Germans"—

"Have you ever been in Germany?" she asked.

Now, here she had me again. No, I have never been in Germany, but I wasn't going to confess it without a struggle, so I evasively replied, "I have been in Sleswick-Holstein."

"That's hardly Germany" (this rather disdainfully).

"I'm glad to hear you confess it," said I. "I've always maintained that Sleswick-Holstein is a piece of Denmark which the Germans stole."

"It's false," she burst out, with flashing eyes. "Ever since the time of Charlemagne Sleswick-Holstein has been—but what's the use of arguing with you?

You're a prejudiced American with French blood in your veins, and you'll never appreciate the Germans."

"I think more of them than I did ten minutes ago," said I, gazing at her admiringly. Her color had risen with her excitement and with the heel of that little tan slipper she was vehemently beating the floor.

"Thank you," she said, recovering her good humor. (There's nothing fetches a woman like a compliment.)

"And after all, Mr. Legend, it's a matter of perfect indifference to me what you think about the Germans."

"Quite so," said I. "But I like to get at the truth on any subject I investigate, and as you seem well posted perhaps you'll let me come around this evening and get some more information from you."

"I don't know about that on such short acquaintance," she said. "Nobody's vouched to me for your respectability and one meets all kinds of queer people at the seaside."

I pointed to Mrs. Richbody, who was on the floor just below us, anxiously watching her only boy take a swimming lesson.

"If that lady vouches for me, will you let me come?"

"Of course; I'm staying at her cottage."

"Mrs. Richbody!" called I.

"Yes," replied the anxious mother, with one eye on her darling.

"Am I respectable?"

"What?"

"Am I respectable?"

Little Algernon Richbody gave a yell as he lost his footing in two feet of water and disappeared. His mother screamed also, only louder, and I could get no attention until Algernon had been hauled up from the bottom and carried off howling to his dressing room.

I hate small boys. What they were ever made for I can't imagine. Small girls have some "raison d'etre." They may grow up to be pretty women.

Mrs. Richbody came panting up the stairs, and I repeated my question.

"Respectable? Why, yes, as much so as any of my cousins, I suppose," she said.

Caroline turned her head away quickly. I thought she even blushed, but she has such a deuced fine color anyway that I couldn't be positive of this.

"May I come to dinner this evening?" asked I humbly.

Mrs. Richbody glanced at Caroline and smiled. Caroline gazed steadily at the tank below, and I believe Stultzwurzel thought she was smitten with him, for he immediately attempted a double somersault dive and landed flat on his stomach. This idiotic caper splashed the green water all over the new coat he had just made for me, and I vowed I wouldn't pay him for a year.

"You told me yesterday you were going to Oakland this afternoon to attend Mrs. Moneyton's garden party," said my cousin.

"That was yesterday," said I.

"Then my chef is away for a week's holiday, and no dinner that Bridget could cook would be any attraction to you."

"You seem to think it's chiefly the dinner that brings me to your house," said I crossly, for by this time I was aware that Caroline was smiling, and not at the tailor.

"You've often said so yourself, Valentine," replied my cousin in a plaintive tone. "I'm sure whenever you come I always try to have that white soup you like so much. But Bridget can't make it."

"Oh, confound—excuse me—bother your dinner," said I, now desperate. "I can get white soup—such as it is—at the hotel. I want to come to dine with you to—to study German."

"Get a grammar," suggested Caroline.

"One can't get the pronunciation from a book," said I. "To catch the true inspiration of that glorious tongue one must have the living teacher."

"I don't know," said Mrs. Richbody doubtfully. "You certainly don't deserve to come, but I'll leave it to Caroline. What do you think, my dear?"

Caroline hesitated. My heart sank to my boots, and I felt the queerest little dryness in my throat. The human seals stopped barking as if by prearrangement, and there came a moment of complete quiet such as sometimes occurs amid the noisiest scene. In the silence I heard Caroline say softly, but very distinctly, "I think we might let him come."

As I said before, that was five days ago. And she now calls me Valentine.

THE UMBRELLA IN AMERICA.

It Was First Seen In the West In the Year 1818.

The first man with the courage to carry an umbrella in London was Jonas Hanway, who died there in 1786 and was honored with a monument in Westminster abbey. The monument was not for his courage in carrying an umbrella, but for his philanthropy, he being the founder of the Marine, Education and Magdalen societies and the author of 70 pamphlets, in which he outlined as many benevolent schemes. He started out with his umbrella about the year 1750, and the year after he died an Englishman advertised "a great assortment of much approved and portable umbrellas." So that Jonas' last philanthropic enterprise was fairly established in England in 1787. Whenever you see a picture of a Quaker you see a man pictured with an umbrella in his hand. The Quakers took up the umbrella and those who came over after Jonas' time brought umbrellas with them. Philadelphia was the first seat of umbrella manufacture in this country, and it is the chief seat of it now. It is said in the books to have been begun there about the year 1800, but from other authority we learn that the firm of Wright & Fenner was making umbrellas there as early as 1796. That is a small matter. The great matter is that the umbrella is a Quaker institution.

When did the umbrella find its way across the mountains? In 1808 a man came to this town and wrote certain things about us in a book. In that he makes pathetic mention of the skimming of his heels on the hard walk and of divers and sundry drenchings he got on the way. He came from Philadelphia, and it is not likely that the umbrella was in very general use then, or he would not have ventured on such a journey in tempestuous weather without one. Probably at that time one had not been seen more than a day's journey west of Philadelphia, or within the Quaker range. We think the umbrella was naturalized in this town, about 1818, which, if we mistake not, was the year the national pike was opened. People came often in stages from Philadelphia after that year and we think we have seen pictures of them, brave, respectable, with thick neckties, stiff hats and coat collars reaching nearly to the tops of their heads, sitting on the roofs of the stages, holding umbrellas.—Pittsburg Times.

Metals.

Mercury, of course, is fluid at all ordinary temperatures. Of the metals which we commonly regard as solid lead can be made to flow with great ease. If, by hydraulic pressure, it is forced into a cylinder with a hole in the side of it, it will, when the cylinder is full, flow out of the hole in a solid barlike stream. The harder metals, as gold and silver, obviously undergo slight fluxion movements in the process of coining, as iron is not perfectly rigid. In drawing out a bar of it into wire the change of form compels the particles of the metal to slide or shear over each other, just as in the flow of a liquid. So great are the pressures that can be applied by modern mechanical science that even steel can be compelled to change its shape without fracture, and all such changes imply fluxion in the metal.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Brave and Cool.

In January last a Philadelphia tenement house was burned. Two men were killed, several persons were badly injured, while others escaped in an almost miraculous manner. The fourth floor was occupied by the family of Joseph Zellers. The father and mother seem to have been absent, but the five children were at home. All were saved through the bravery and coolness of the oldest of them, a girl of 16, whose conduct is briefly described by The Record.

Jenny Zellers was dressing the children, the youngest a mere baby, when a cloud of smoke came into the room and at the same time the frantic cries of those below reached her ears.

Hastily opening the door, she saw the flames leaping up the stairway toward her. Never hesitating, she shut the door, and calling the children together, forced them up a ladder and through a trapdoor to the roof. They were elevated high above the surrounding buildings, and below them the flames were roaring with terrible fury.

Still retaining her presence of mind, the brave girl dropped her brother, a lad of 14, to the roof of the house to the south. It was a fall of ten feet, but the boy landed safely, and then the girl braved the fire in her doomed home to secure a quantity of bedding.

This she threw to her brother, who arranged it on the roof, and then, one by one, she dropped the other children. The infant she took in her arms, and leaped with it in safety to the bedding. Next she broke a skylight in the roof to which all had escaped, and lowering the children through it they all reached the street.

Interruptions by the Court.

Lord Chief Justice Erle was prone to interrupt counsel when it was found that the judges had already made up their minds against him. On one occasion Mr. Bovill, Q. C., soon afterward made a judge, was stopped with: "Here we stand, we four men, and we have all firmly (emphasizing the adverb) made up our minds that there must be a new trial, but if you think it worth your while going on after that (playfully), why of course we'll keep on hearing you." Whereupon the Q. C. laughingly sat down.

On another occasion he again interrupted with "I beg to inform the counsel 'there is a time in the mind of every man at which he lets down the floodgates of his understanding and allows not one more drop to enter,' and that time, in my mind, has fully arrived."

WILMINGTON, N. C.

SUNDAY MORNING, JAN. 31, 1897

ARBITRATION TREATY.

A Favorable Report to Be Made to the Senate Monday—Indications Are that It will Have a Hard Time Securing a Two-third Vote.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Every member of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, with the exception of Mr. Turpie, was present this morning when the committee convened a few minutes before 11 o'clock. The entire session was devoted to consideration of the general treaty of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain. The members denied themselves to several Representatives who came over from the House and refused to be disturbed.

At 1.30 o'clock this afternoon a vote was taken on the treaty and a favorable report was ordered made to the Senate next Monday, with certain amendments reserved for submission to the Senate when the subject shall come up.

The most important amendment was that which added at the end of Article I the following words: "But no question which affects the foreign or domestic policy of either of the high contracting parties or the relations of either with any other State or Power, by treaty or otherwise, shall be subject to arbitration under this treaty except by a special agreement."

The second amendment strikes out all references to His Majesty, the King of Sweden and Norway, as the umpire, in case the court fails to agree upon an umpire in accordance with the provisions of Article III and Article V. The motion to strike out this clause was carried with but one negative vote, that of Senator Gray, of Delaware.

The vote on the final motion to report the treaty to the Senate as amended was so close that it startled some of the friends of the convention who believed there would be practically no opposition to the amended treaty. When the roll was called the votes were cast as follows: In favor of reporting the treaty to the Senate, Messrs. Sherman, Davis, Frye, Lodge, Cullom, Republicans, and Gray, Democrat; total, 6 Against reporting the treaty to the Senate, Messrs. Morgan, Mills, Daniel, Democrats, and Cameron, Republican; total, 4.

An amendment was also offered inserting a clause stating in positive terms that the Alaskan boundary question should not be submitted to arbitration under this treaty, but it was rejected by the same vote of 6 to 4. The debate in the committee room developed an opposition to the treaty under any conditions that was entirely unexpected, and if the minority of the committee represent a proportionate membership of the Senate, the indications are that the treaty will have a hard time securing the requisite two thirds vote.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Wheat and Corn Higher—Pork, Lard and Ribs Lower.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Wheat had a very active market within a one-cent range of prices to-day. "Shorts" covered freely and in so doing afforded considerable strength to the situation. Several sharp bulges took place but there were a corresponding number of weak spots. May wheat opened at 75½—¾@¾c higher than yesterday. Cash wheat was irregular, closing at ¾@¾c per bushel lower.

May corn opened at 24½c, sold between 24⅝ and 24c, closing at 24½@24¼—¼@½c under yesterday. Cash corn was firm and ½c higher, closing easy.

May oats closed ¼@½c lower. Cash oats were steady.

Five cents advance in hog prices this morning was instrumental in strengthening the tone of the product market. There was rather free offerings, however, and the early advance was not sustained. May pork closed 2½c lower than yesterday, May lard and ribs each a shade lower.

SPOTS AND FUTURES.

The Visible Supply of Cotton—Crop in Sight—New York Sun's Review of the Market.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK Jan. 30.—The total visible supply of cotton for the world is 4 088 400 bales, of which 3,766,100 are American, against 3 949 958 and 3 498,058 respectively last year. Receipts of cotton this week at all interior towns 60 108 bales Receipts from the plantations 189,156 bales. Crop in sight 6 947,187 bales.

The Sun says: Spot cotton here was unchanged, with sales of 140 bales for spinning. Middling uplands 7 5 16c, against 8¼c last year; New Orleans and Gulf 7 9 16c, against 8½c last year.

The speculation to day was stagnant. The fluctuations in prices were confined within narrow limits and the closing figures were practically unchanged from last night's final quotations. The decline in Liverpool, both for futures and spots, caused an easier opening here, but on decreased estimates of the receipts at the ports and interior towns next week the tone became firmer and prices advanced slightly. Part of this trifling improvement was lost before the close, however, on selling by local scalpers. The receipts at the ports for the week are estimated at 110,000 to 115,000 bales, against 140,300 last week.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

THE BOUNDARY BETWEEN ALASKA AND CANADA

To Be Settled by a Commission—Bill Introduced in the House to Compensate Confederate Officers for Horses, Side-arms and Baggage—Japanese Counterfeiting American Trademarks.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Secretary Olney and the British Ambassador at the State Department at 11 o'clock this morning signed "a convention between the United States and Great Britain for the demarkation of so much of the 141 Smteridian with such longitude as may be necessary for the determination of the boundary between their respective possessions in North America. The President will send this convention to the Senate on Monday for ratification. It provides for a commission similar to the Mexican boundary commission which will avail itself of the information already collected under the convention under the charge of Prof. Mendenhall and Duffield and Mr. King, of Canada, who were working under the agreement made in 1892. This treaty is to define the boundary between Alaska and the Dominion of Canada, and it is believed will settle the controversy over the location of the gold fields in that territory.

Mr. Cox, of Tennessee, offered in the House to day a bill which recites the circumstances of Lee's surrender at Appomattox and the written guarantee that the artillery and cavalry officers of the Confederacy should be permitted to retain their horses, side-arms and baggage. After the surrender, the Federal soldiers despoiled the Confederates of these effects and they were never returned to their original owners. His bill appropriates $800 000 as a compensation for these losses upon satisfactory proof being furnished to the Quartermaster General.

Under the treaty with Japan, proclaimed March 21, 1895, which does not, however, go into effect until July 17 1899, there is an article granting the citizens of either country the same protection as native citizens in regard "to patents, trademarks and designs upon fulfillment of the formalities of law." Since that treaty was negotiated the Japanese have imitated American manufactures, using trademarks and other individual designs and imported such goods into this country at prices below those at which the same goods can be made here. Business men here protested, and recently Secretary Olney negotiated a very brief treaty which makes Article XVI of this treaty go into effect at once. The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations this afternoon ordered a favorable report to be made on this treaty, and it will probably be ratified at once.

CITY OFFICIALS INDICTED.

Louisville Chief of Police, Aldermen and Others Charged With Various Offenses.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 30.—The grand jury to day returned indictment against fourteen people connected with the city government, including aldermen and police officers. Other indictments may also be expected. Those indicted are R. E. King, President of the Board of Aldermen; Aldermen R. O. Breuer and J. E. Leatherman, whose indictment was ordered yesterday; Major Sebastian Gunther, as the chief of police; Aldermen John De Garmo, Charles Kramer, Jr., Secretary of the Board of Public Safety; Pat. Ahern, Martin Donahue, Harry Debo, William Kimball, James T. Drake, Alderman C. J. Jenne and Policemen Steve Connelly and Nick Varilla.

The indictment against Alderman De Garmo charges him with obtaining money by false pretence for alleged influence. Henry Debo and William Kimball were indicted for false swearing. Major of Police Gunther and Policemen Connelly and Varvilla are charged with malfeasance in office in failing to suppress gaming, James Drake, a contractor, and Aldermen Leatherman and Breuer will have to answer a joint indictment on the charge of conspiracy in getting a contract through the Council. Charles Kramer, Jr., Pat Ahern, Martin Donahue, Henry Debo and William Kimball were indicted jointly on the charge of conspiracy to aid in a false prosecution and to institute a false prosecution in the name of the Commonwealth against other persons.

The indictments against Aldermen King Leatherman and Jenne charge them with offering complete police protection to a faro bank in consideration of one-third of the net profits. Bench warrants were issued for the arrest of the indicted men, but by agreement they will not be served until Monday as bond cannot be given on Sunday. The indicted aldermen are A. P. A. Republicans, all the other are Democrats, except Contractor James M. Drake, who was an A. P. A. leader.

SECRETARY HERBERT

Will Visit Charleston During the Drill of Admiral Bunce's Squadron.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Jan. 30.—In response to a cordial invitation from the Charleston Chamber of Commerce, Secretary of the Navy H. A. Herbert has expressed his intention of coming to Charleston and remaining during the manœuvres of Admiral Bunce's squadron of evolution. Secretary Herbert will be the guest of the Chamber of Commerce. The Secretary is a native of South Carolina and has hundreds of admirers here who will do all in their power to make his stay interesting. Preparations are being made in Charleston for a great crowd of visitors during the naval rendezvous. Excursion rates are to be made for this point from all sections of the South. Arrangements are pending for a grand military and naval ball and other social functions. It is thought that a land parade of the sailors and races between ships' cutters in the harbor can be arranged for.

GEN. CARLOS ROLOFF.

United States Grand Jury Find Indictment Against Him For Violating Neutrality Laws.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 30.—The United States grand jury to-day found indictments against Gen. Carlos Roloff, Secretary of War of the Cuban Government, and his compatriot, Dr. Jose J. Luis, on the charge of beginning, setting on foot, and providing within the district of Maryland, means for a military expedition against the territory of a foreign prince with whom the United States is at peace, to wit, against the Island of Cuba. A bench warrant will be issued, and the men brought here from New York, where they are held in bail by United States Commissioner Shields for trial.

James J. Corbett has decided to close his theatrical season at Kansas City, February 5th, and to start at once for the Pacific coast, where he will go into training for his battle with Fitzsimmons, March 17th.

CUBAN AFFAIRS.

MEETING HELD IN HAVANA TO DISCUSS PROPOSED REFORMS.

Insurgents Capture and Sack a Town—Five Generals Ask Leave to Return to Spain, Being Disgusted With Weyler's Atrocious Policy.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

MADRID, Jan. 30.—The Epoca says that General Ascarraga, Minister of War, has intimated, in the course of conversation, that an arrangement with the Cuban rebels looking to a cessation of hostilities in Cuba may possibly be reached soon. The Madrid newspapers profess belief that the recent visit of United States Minister Taylor to the Duke of Tetuan, Minister of Foreign Affairs, was an event of great importance in its bearing upon the situation in Cuba.

KEY WEST, FLA., Jan. 30.—Advices received to-night by the steamer Olivette say: A secret meeting was held in the Palace recently, in which Abumada, Weyler's substitute; Palmerola, Secretary of the Government; Montero, Galvese and Cueto, for the Autonomist party, and Rabell and Rivero, for the Reformists, took part, and it is hinted the representative of the firm of Haupmann & Co., Rothschilds' agents in Havana, assisted. The object of the meeting was to discuss the proposed reforms soon to be granted Cuba.

The consent, it appears, of the Cleveland administration was considered necessary and it was believed would be granted, but as in all contracts where bilateral interests are concerned the party of the third part must give his entire conformity, it was thought advisable to explore that party's will, and if possible, induce him to give his voluntary consent, either by framing promises, or if necessary, by monetary influences, which would be liberally expended.

Somebody was required to make overtures to Gomez, who is the remaining, so they believed, or visible head of the revolution, and Marcos Garcia (Spottorno) the renegade Cuban, who had been purposely called for the meeting, was designated. He accepted the proposal at once. He will start to-morrow for Sancti Spiritus, and from there will proceed to Gomez's camp which is said to be in that vicinity. Doubts are entertained as to whether Gomez will receive him or enter into any negotiations with the Spanish Government. It is reported Gomez has warned Garcia that if he catches him he will hang him as a traitor to his country.

The insurgents have captured the town of Palmas Atlas, near Manzanilla, sacking all the stores. Five Generals have asked leave of absence to return to Spain, apparently disgusted with Weyler's atrocious policy. The Generals are Pin, Bernal, Alonzo, Lozas and Figuero. Gen. Luque has asked for reinforcements hurriedly. Gen. Gonzales Munez has requested leave to march to the field, being displeased with certain dealings in the general staff of which he has charge.

CYLINDRICAL COTTON BALES.

A Company Formed in Galveston, Texas, to Introduce and Operate the New Process in the Cotton Growing Districts.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

GALVESTON, Jan. 30.—It is learned from a very authentic source that there is in contemplation here the formation in the near future of a stock company with an authorized capital of $5 000,000, having for its object the introduction and operation of cylindrical bale cotton compress throughout the cotton States. As this system of compressing involves a complete change in the present manner of handling cotton, it is aimed to make it an international affair in order to find a ready outlet for the cotton thus put up The company contemplates establishing ginning and compressing plants at all points in the cotton growing districts, where it may expect to handle 10.000 000 bales during a season. Each of its plants is to have a capacity of not less than one hundred bales per day, and are to be of the most improved order. The company will control the patents covering the compressors, as well as other machinery used in the make up of its system of ginning, cleaning and compressing cotton, and will erect machine shops and foundries at the most advantageous points for the manufacture of all its machinery. This system of baling cotton will, it is claimed, result in great saving to the producers as well as to shippers of cotton.

RECEIVER APPOINTED

For the Dime Savings Bank of Chicago, Ill.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHICAGO, January 30.—Judge Froman to-day appointed Ralph Metcalf receiver for the Dime Savings Bank, requiring him to give a bond of $200 000. This action was taken upon a bill filed in the Superior Court by Geo. W. Reed, a stockholder in the concern. There was no opposition on the part of the directors, but on the contrary they came into court with an answer and consented to the appointment of Samuel G. Bailey as president and W. C. D. Granois vice president of the bank. Bailey claims to have resigned some months ago, and Granois is sick in bed.

The posting of the receivership notice on the door of the bank did not create any excitement on the street, and the depositors who have been unable to get any of the money due them because of the enforcement of the 90-day notice, were in a condition to receive the news as the only logical ending of the bank's embarrassment.

Receiver Metcalf, who was the newly-elected treasurer, said: "I am almost certain we will be able to pay every dollar to our 4 000 depositors."

AN ELECTRIC RAILWAY

In Course of Construction at Charleston, South Carolina.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

CHARLESTON, Jan. 30.—The owners of the Charleston Street Railway, a new electric line in course of construction, have just purchased the two horse car lines now in operation here, the Enterprise Railroad and the City Railway. These companies have been doing business for many years and are operated upon some of the most important thoroughfares. The purchase price of the City Railway is par for stocks and 93 per cent. for bonds. The Enterprise stock was somewhat less. This gives the electric company all available streets in the city and all lines will be electrified.

The Georgia Railroad and Banking Company reports for the year ended June 30, 1896, gross earnings $1 479 799, an increase of $172,184; net earnings, after expenses and taxes, $481,119, an increase of $110 845; total net earnings $934 869, an increase of $110 845; rental, $600 000—leaving a deficit of $76,151, a decrease of $110 845.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The Agricultural Appropriation Bill the Principal Subject Considered.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The Agricultural Appropriation bill was the principal and almost the sole subject of consideration in the House to-day, this being the third day it has been on the parliamentary stocks. As usual, the distribution of seeds gave rise to an animated discussion, which lasted two hours and comprised the annual motion to strike out the appropriation ($120,000) altogether. This failed—39 to 70—Speaker Reed casting one of the affirmative votes, the first time this Congress that he has exercised the privileges of an ordinary member. An amendment was adopted authorizing the members to select the seeds they desire, the Department of Agriculture to purchase and distribute the same.

On points of order the proposed rearrangement of salaries in the Weather Bureau and Bureau of Animal Industry, recommended by the Chiefs, the Secretary and the Committee on Agriculture, were stricken out of the bill and the provision of the present law inserted in place of them. The bill was passed, and after the passage of two or three private bills, the House, at 4 55, adjourned until Monday.

THE CAHABA RIVER DISASTER.

The Person Under Arrest for Wrecking the Birmingham Mineral Train Released.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BIRMINGHAM, Jan. 30.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon Judge Banks decided that the State in the case of Sam Palatka, who was charged with wrecking the Birmingham Mineral train at the Cahaba river bridge on December 27th, had not shown that a rail had been removed or a crime committed, and he therefore discharged the prisoner.

Palatka was arrested in Eatonton, Ga., and brought to the city, he having confessed to wrecking the Cahaba river bridge and Birmingham mineral train, causing the death of twenty seven people. The man appears to be of unsound mind and acts it.

Attorneys who have suits against the Louisville & Nashville for damages resulting from the work claim a victory in the ruling of Judge Banks.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Louis C. Evans, of Springfield, Ohio, Makes an Unsuccessful Effort to Kill Himself.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 30.—Louis C. Evans, the millionaire president of the A. C. Evans Manufacturing Company, returned from New York this morning. He went to his brother George's room at the Arcade Hotel and shot himself in the forehead with a 32-calibre revolver. He had the weapon too close and the ball glanced upward under the skin. He was not fatally hurt. Evans and his wife have been visiting in New York, but he returned home alone this morning. The cause of this attempt upon his life is unknown.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.
